AN HF SINCLAIR BRAND

IT TAKES DEDICATION. IT TAKES A GIANT.

The rail industry rides on the shoulders of giants like you. People who are dedicated to serving the transportation needs of our country. Your tireless devotion is what drives us at Red Giant Oil.

We understand that you need more than a good product; you need a good partner. For the last century we have been committed to providing true partnership to our customers, earning the trust and loyalty of companies big and small. When you work with us, you'll receive the personal service only Red Giant Oil can deliver backed by the global support of HF Sinclair.

Our highly experienced team is dedicated to understanding you, your operation and your business needs. No other company is more fiercely devoted to doing right by their customers. It's not just our reputation. It's our way of doing business.

IT TAKES STRENGTH. IT TAKES A GIANT.

You give your all to your rail operation day in and day out, facing every long haul, every oversized load, every rushed delivery with strength and resilience. You need a lubricant that can do the same for your big engines.

We put everything into our lubricants, obsessing over the smallest details to make sure our products deliver exceptional performance every day. We understand you may not have the luxury of working with new equipment, so we've specifically formulated our lubricants to increase the life of engines old and new. We only use high-quality base oils and additives, ensuring your equipment will always perform at its best.

IT TAKES DETERMINATION. IT TAKES A GIANT.

You go above and beyond to do your job, often burning the midnight oil to get your trains loaded and on their way. We're here to do the same for you, because we believe you deserve nothing less. We treat every customer like a valued member of our family, working around the clock to get you what you need when you need it. Call us old-school, but it's how we like to do business.

We offer confirmed and on-time delivery

We support emergency delivery wherever possible

Our delivery team communicates directly with you
(no middlemen)

You can choose delivery from dedicated tanker trucks, rail-partner freight cars, or storage sites across the U.S.

Our tank trailers are designated exclusively for new oil transportation ensuring you always receive the highest quality product possible.

IT TAKES EXPERIENCE. IT TAKES A GIANT.

The rail industry is not for the faint of heart. Over the years you've faced the ups and downs of this business and come out with the wisdom and experience of a veteran. Over the last century, we've adapted and improved to meet your evolving needs. We've stayed up-to-date with the product changes you've needed as your engines have grown bigger and more powerful. Through it all we have never wavered from our commitment to support you, and we never will. Because you're more than just our customer.

We're looking forward to meeting you, learning about your needs and partnering with you for the long haul.
